BOARD OF GENERAL MINISTRIES | COMMISSIONS

GUIDELINES FOR ESTABLISHING A COMMISSION

1. GENERAL GUIDELINES

According to Article XI, Section 4 of the ABCUSA Bylaws, the Board of General Ministries (BGM) may establish BGM Commissions. Commissions are designed to address long-term issues with the denomination of one to three years or longer in duration. Issues that can be addressed in a shorter timeframe should be established as a task force rather than a commission. A group originally established as a task force may appeal to the Board of General Ministries to become a Commission. The issue being addressed by the commission should be applicable to the entire denomination. Any group may appeal directly to the BGM Executive Committee to become a commission.

2. PROPOSAL PHASE

An American Baptist Commission may be established by a proper vote (see appendix) of the Board of General Ministries with the prior approval of the BGM Executive Committee.

This process is initiated with a proposal, and if passed, an establishment period will begin during which the Office of the General Secretary will provide both staffing assistance and seed money to launch the commission. The General Secretary will determine the appropriate staffing assistance, and the BGM will approve an appropriate funding amount.

A proposal phase for the establishment of a commission process is as follows:

- A. Interested persons are to submit a draft proposal for the establishment of a commission to the BGM Executive Committee to include minimally:
 - i. Rationale for becoming a commission
 - ii. Goals and activities for the commission
 - iii. Structure of commission (how often they would meet, what platform(s))
 - iv. Support they anticipate is needed for the commission during the establishment phase (first 12 months)
 - v. Recommendations of categories/qualifications of persons who would serve on the commission
 - vi. List of individuals who are interested in taking leadership during the establishment phase should the proposal be accepted, what each person brings to the endeavor, and their contact information.
- B. Exec. Committee receives and reviews the draft proposal and determines whether to advance it to the full Board, with ability to revise the proposal.
- C. The BGM will review proposals presented and vote at an official Board meeting. If the proposal passes, the establishment phase begins.
 - a. The Board approves the amount of the seed money for the establishment phase.
 - b. The Board approves the person(s) that will chair the process during the establishment phase.
 - c. The General Secretary assigns a staff liaison and any other staff support, if applicable.

Any proposal that does not advance through any of these stages can be revised; the President, with the General Secretary, determines whether a proposal will be reconsidered at any point during the proposal phase.

3. ESTABLISHMENT PHASE OF A COMMISSION

The establishment phase can be up to 12 months, during which a commission will provide a written quarterly report to the BGM Executive Committee that summarizes the progress of the commission. The Executive Committee will assess the commission on its alignment with the intended purpose and its capacity building.

In the establishment phase, a commission, with the guidance of the staff liaison, is strongly encouraged to address the following clarifying-purpose and capacity-building markers and report on the progress regularly:

- A. Short-term goals and measurement plans (1-3 years)
- B. A plan for the commission membership, including skills, expertise, representation, etc. and recruitment strategy
 - i. According to SR 11.1.4.1 a commission must include three or more BGM members nominated by the President in consultation with the General Secretary and elected by the Board of General Ministries. The commission may also include persons who are not members of the board, but all commission members must be voted upon by the BGM.
 - ii. According to SR 11.1.1 the chairperson of each committee or commission of the Board of General Ministries shall be appointed from the membership of the respective committee or commission by the President in consultation with the General Secretary and shall serve until the expiration of the term of the appointing President.
 - iii. Upon approval of the plan for membership by the Executive Committee, the commission shall recruit and develop a slate of commission members.
- C. Parameters of convening and decision-making.
 - i. Refer to SR 11.1.1, 11.1.2, and 11.1.3
- D. Funding needs and strategy, if the commission is in need of funds for its ongoing work and/or intends to raise funds for their work. These steps must be determined in consultation with a member of the ABCUSA Mission Resource Development department.
- E. Details concerning any other items considered core to the purpose and impact of the commission.

The Executive Committee will respond to the quarterly reports and provide additional guidance as appropriate throughout the establishment phase. When the Executive Committee assesses that the commission has adequately clarified its purpose and built capacity for the goals, membership composition, and functionality or at the 12-month marker, whichever comes first, it shall advance a motion to the BGM for the next step. The options for this motion can include: 1. advance the commission from establishment phase to on-going phase, accompanied with a slate of commission members to be confirmed; 2.) extend the establishment phase for a specific amount of time; 3.) cease the establishment of the commission; or 4.) other appropriate motion based on the Executive Committee's assessment.

The Board will then vote on the motion presented by the Executive Committee and set in motion any resulting action items.

4. ONGOING WORK OF A COMMISSION

The BGM may also assign functions to the commission from time to time (SR 11.1.7.1). Beyond the establishment phase, a commission shall provide a written annual report to the BGM throughout its existence as a commission.

A commission must be reviewed and re-approved by the Board of General Ministries every three years in order to maintain their status as a commission. The commission will submit a brief report detailing accomplishments and future goals for re-approval consideration.
